

Contents

Frostick, L. Foreword	vii
Burek, C. V. and Higgs, B. M. Celebration of the centenary of the first female Fellows: introduction	1
Burek, C. V. Female medal and fund recipients of the Geological Society of London: a historical perspective	15
Burek, C. V. Margaret Chorley Crosfield, FGS: the very first female Fellow of the Geological Society	33
Kölbl-Ebert, M. Ladies with hammers – exploring a social paradox in early nineteenth-century Britain	55
Orr, M. Collecting women in geology: opening the international case of a Scottish ‘cabinetière’, Eliza Gordon Cumming (c. 1798–1842)	63
Sendino, C. and Porter, J. Female aristocrats in the natural history world before the establishment of the Geological Society of London	75
Panciroli, E., Wyse Jackson, P. N. and Crowther, P. R. Scientists, collectors and illustrators: the roles of women in the Palaeontographical Society	97
Thompson, C. Maria Graham and the Chilean earthquake of 1822: contextualizing the first female-authored article in Transactions of the Geological Society	117
Hegarty, S. Female students of geology in Victorian Dublin	125
Burek, C. V. Mabel Elizabeth Tomlinson and Isabel Ellie Knaggs: two overlooked early female Fellows of the Geological Society	135
Tubb, J. and Burek, C. V. Gertrude Elles: the pioneering graptolite geologist in a woolly hat. Her career, achievements and personal reflections from her family and colleagues	157
Mather, J. D. and Bennett, J. A. Eileen Mary Lind Hendriks (1887–1978), whose meticulous research resolved the Paleozoic stratigraphy and structure of SW England	171
Lewis, C. L. E. Two for the price of one: Doris Livesey Reynolds (1899–1985)	187
Boylan, P. J. Dr Dorothy Helen Rayner FGS (1912–2003): vertebrate palaeontologist and academic	201
Hobbs, B. A. and Jones, A. G. A pioneering geophysicist: Rosemary Hutton	215
Higgs, B. M. Understanding the Earth: the contribution of Marie Tharp	231
Gries, R. P. Buried discoveries of early female petroleum geologists	245
Kiseeva, E. S. and Yuzmukhametov, R. N. Women at the dawn of diamond discovery in Siberia or how two women discovered the Siberian diamond province	261
Turner, S. Far-flung female (and fossil bone hunting) Fellows: an autoethnographical approach	277
Index	303